

Bring It On Breakaway!!

Senior Breakaway Herald out of print!!

O no can this be true? The Senior Breakaway Herald is out of publication!! AGH!

You have read right fans and air-conditioners! The Senior Breakaway Herald has finished circulation and the long awaited, much anticipated, new and improved version has hit the news stands!! (Those of you who have the Senior Breakaway Herald still in your possession—keep it!! It will be worth a fortune to collectors all over the world!!)

Anyway, as you can see the new version is called “Bring It On Breakaway” . After much deliberation, anguish and brain strain (OK it took 2 emails to decide!!) the editors’ in chief (ie Kylie and Lisa) chose this name because of 4 reasons:

1. We liked it
2. We say “bring it on” all the time!
3. It makes us look forward to next years camp with baited breath.
4. It sets up a challenge for all leaders and campers. The challenge is when you hear the awesome news about God and Jesus and what they have done for you, what are you going to do about it?

So the new version will have all the familiar favourites that you know and love and can't possibly live without, like Grumbleface and Slip having their say, reviews, testimonies of leaders, interviews plus a few new surprises.

So sit back, relax and enjoy the new and improved “Bring It On Breakaway” Volume 1 Issue 2

Love your work,

Editors' in Chief

Lisa and Kylie ☺

Come on and join the reunion

That's right campers and leaders there is another reunion just around the corner!! Can't you just feel the emotion of the time building?!

Anyway the details are:

When: Sunday 3rd November 2002

Where: Bicentennial Park, Homebush (c other sheet)

Time: 12.30pm—whenever you need to go to church or night time comes (whichever first for you)

Cost: freebie! Gotta love that!!

Bring: -photos of camp for Andrew to put on the web (don't worry you will get them back)

-picnic lunch for yourself

-sporting equipment eg roller blades, scooters, footy, cricket, rug etc

-your Mum, Dad, brothers, sisters

-Your friends

In case of wet weather the arrangements are:

Ring Andrew on 0400800226 or Tall Paul on 0402885807. We will be going to the Sydney Aquatic Centre like last time.

Special points of interest:

- Did you notice the new name?!
- Grumbleface and Slip are back
- And so is Luke! YAY!
- Reunion details
- We have a new name!
- Leaders adventures
- Like the new name?!
- Plus stacks more!!

Grumbleface and Slip get wet.....

"Maate!! Grumbleface and Slip here!

"It was great to see all you lovely people from Senior Breakaway camp 2002 @ the Sydney Aquatic Centre in March."

"We had so much fun going around and around and around and around and around that whirlpool. didn't we Slip?"

"I know what you mean Grumbleface—I thought I was going to be sick but that Miss Kimberly came to our rescue and pulled us free!"

"She is such a lovely young lady isn't she? I like Miss Kimberly! I hope she comes to camp next year."

"Slip your drooling"

"Oh, sorry Grumbleface"

"Speaking of next year, I know all the leaders have had their first meeting about camp next year and some great ideas have come out ready for camp and planning is well under way."

"Did you go on that aqua run at the pool Grumbleface?"

"No I didn't. I was going down the water slide instead, but I saw Holly, TP, Dave, Andrew, Maxine, Kylie R, Stuart, Cameron, Catronia, Joshua, Amanda, Nic and some of the others attempt the aqua run and a few of them made it but most of them crashed and burned big time."

"I saw you try to beat Ian 'I have size 17 feet' Thorpe's record in the lap pool though Slip, any luck?"

"Well Grumbleface I tried but that Big Mac that I ate for lunch kept repeating on me and it just slowed me down too much. But I thought I did a pretty good time though."

"So will we see you at the next Olympics then Slip?"

"Not unless we are on the commentary team Grumbleface. Hey maybe we could be the new

Roy and HG?"

"I like the sounds of that Slip!"

"Well all you dead set Breakaway camp legends, Slip and I have to go and get our audition tape for the commentary team for the Athens 2004 Olympics ready for channel 7, but we are just hanging to see you again at next years Senior Breakaway camp!"

PS: Check out our poll on the Breakaway webpage. The address is: www.geocities.com/breakawaycamp

Rubber Ducky you're the one.....

Luke is Back!!!

After being away for a year Luke Reurich is back in the right hemisphere!!

Luke has been at Capernwray Bible College in Canada studying for the past year and he says that it was a great experience.

He got to study the bible with all these other students from around the world and learn stacks and stacks more about God.

Even though he was so far from home and missing everyone very much, he said that it was a great time of life because he knew that God wanted him to go and study overseas. He even managed to do a bit of skiing at Whistler!!

Awesome!!

Anyway, Luke is pumped for next year's camps and can't wait to share God and Jesus to those he comes into contact with, both leaders and campers!

He would love to hear from everyone so drop him a line at the conference centre.

Leaders' Adventures.....

While we are not at camp the leaders still see each other every now and then and recently some of them went skiing for a week. Those that participated in this life changing event were: Jonny, Luke, Tall Paul, David S, Andrew, Tracey, Holly, Robyn and Kylie.

We set out very early from Fitzroy Falls one Sunday morning and for the rest of the week we were sliding down the slopes of Front Valley and surrounds of Perisher Blue (sing ad jingle now!!)

Mel Hynd has been to Thailand on Mission and she said that it was a fabo experience and that you all have to do it if you ever get the opportunity to go on mission somewhere. (it was a bit hot and sticky though!)

Rebecca was given a placement at Manly Hospital as a nurse.

Mr Alex is overseas again this time it is England (not sure of this Editors were told but Kylie has forgotten!)

We have already had our first meeting for camp next year and a lot of things were discussed and plans for next years camp. It is looking good so stay tuned to this space for details of the next meeting.

Do you have any adventures that you would like to share with the rest of the camp?

If so please send them to Lisa and Kylie—our details are on the back page.

Who's who in the Zoo—Interview with a leader segment. This edition's legend is Miss Kimberley Baker

Full Name: Kimberley Anne with an 'e' Baker.

How are you?: Yeah pretty good.

Where do you live? Pugsley Ave

So is that in Australia?: Yep it's one of the high points of Wagga.

What do you do?: I get to spend lots of time hanging out with friends drinking countless cups of chocolate (because I don't drink coffee) and I study pharmacy in my spare time.

You finish soon, are you excited?: I haven't had time to think about it.

Well where are you going for prac?: Broken Hill

WHY?????: Because it's gonna be so cool it's going to be something totally different to what I've ever done before.

What sort of things do you do around campus?: Spend way too many hours in the computer centre printing off countless notes that I'm never going to read. Attend lectures, but the really good stuff is having lunch with friends, doing bible studies with a couple of girls, and getting some Christian training from the Christian group on Wednesday afternoon.

Kim, what's a good thing about being a Christian?: It's hard to pick out one good thing when there's so many good things running around your head. But I guess it's knowing that because of what God's done for me it's not my good effort that'll get me to heaven but God's good gift.

It's just such a relief that there isn't this criteria I have to live up to for God to forgive me, He forgives me because Jesus has taken the punishment that I should have taken.

Because if it relied on me being super good then I'd lay there awake at night wondering if I'd made it and knowing that I hadn't. I guess that's what I used to do.

So a hard thing?: Is that people have all these stereotypes of what they think you should be and they've made up their minds often before they've spoken to you.

Hmmm, I have just a couple of extra questions for you.

What's your favourite word?: Mephistophelean (look it up) (hehehe eds)

What have you been reading lately? Pharmacy flipping Journals and "The Disciple of Grace" by Jerry Bridges

Okay Kim, this is your chance to say anything you want What would Kim like to say to all the readers of BRING IT ON BREAKAWAY?????: The main thing is keeping the Main Thing the main thing. Yep cause it's just so easy to get tricked into thinking that some things matter heaps when they don't in comparison to what God's done for me and for everybody.

Thanks Kim, will we see you at camp?: Hopefully if work lets me, but either way: BRING IT ON!!!

If you have any articles, comments, suggestions please forward them onto Lisa and Kylie at the details below: